BY ABRAHAM LINCOLN!—The Story of His Life

MARTYRED PRESIDENT'S OWN HAND PENNED THIS BIOGRAPHY FOR VOTERS OF 1860

BY ABRAHAM LINCOLN
(Written as Material in Connection With His Campaign for the Presidency in 1860)

I was born Feb. 12, 1809, in Hardin county, Kentucky. My parents were both born in Virginia of undistinguished families, second families, perhaps I should say. My mother, who died in my tenth year, was of a family of the name of Hanks, some of whom now reside in Adams, and others in Macon counties, Illinois.

My paternal grandfather, Abraham Lincoln, emigrated from Rockingham county, Va., to Kentucky, about 1781 or 1782, where a year or two later, he was killed by Indians, not in battle, but by stealth, when he was laboring to open a farm in the forest.

His ancestors, who were Quakers, went to Virginia from Berks county, Penn. An effort to identify them with the New England family of the same name, ended in nothing more definite than a similarity of Christian names of both families, such as Enoch, Levi, Mordcaid, Solomon, Abraham and the like.

My father, at the death of his father, was but 6 years of age and he grew up literally without education. He removed from Kentucky to what is now Spencer county, Ind., in my eighth year. We reached our new home about the time the state came into the Union. It was a wild region, with many bears and other wild animals still in the woods. There I grew up.

There were some schools, so-called, but no qualification was ever required of a teacher beyond "reading, writing" and ciphering, "to the rule of three."

If a stranger supposed to understand Latin happened to sojourn in the neighborhood, he was looked upon as a wizard—there was absolutely nothing to excite ambition for education, of course. When I came of age I did not know much—still, somehow, I could read, write and cipher to the rule of three, but that was all—I have not been to school since—the little advance I now have upon this store of education I have picked up from time to time under the pressure of necessity—I was raised to farm work, which I continued till I was 22.

At 21 I came to Illinois and passed the first year in Illinois—Macon county. Then I got to New Salem, at that time in Sangamon, now in Menard county where I remained a year as a sort of clerk in a store. Then came the Black Hawk War and I was elected a captain of volunteers, a success which gave me

Here is Abraham Lincoln's own story of his life as penned by his own hand, which may soon find a place in the archives of the nation in the Library of Congress at Washington. It is now in a bank vault at Normal, Ill. It was bequeathed to the public recently upon the death of Miss Fannie Fall, of Los Gatos, Calif., whose father, Judge Jesse W. Fell, shared Mr. Lincoln's law office at Springfield, Ill. Mr. Lincoln, at Judge Fell's request, wrote this autobiography in December, 1859, for the guidance of his friends in preparing material for his presidential candidacy in 1860. The illustration reproduces parts of the document in Mr. Lincoln's handwriting.

more pleasure than any I have had since. I went into the campaign, was elected, ran for the Legislature the same year (1832) and was beaten. Only time I have ever been beaten by the people. The next three succeeding biennial elections I was elected into the Legislature. I was not a candidate afterward.

During this legislative period I had studied law and removed to Springfield to practice it. In 1841 I was once elected to the lower house of Congress—was not a candidate for re-election. From 1849 to 1854, both inclusive, practiced law now more assiduously than ever before—always a Whig in politics, and generally on the Whig electoral tickets, making active canvasses. I was losing interest in politics when the repeal of the Missouri compromise aroused me again. What I have done since then is pretty well known. If any personal description of me is thought desirable, it may be said, I am, in height six feet four inches nearly, lean in flesh, weighing on an average, 180 pounds; dark complexion, with coarse black hair and gray eyes—no other marks or brands recollected.

Yours very truly,
A. LINCOLN.

led the devotions. The Presbyterian choir were in charge of the singing. Mrs. Lester Wilhelm gave a beautiful rendering of that lovely solo, "My Help Cometh From the Lord." Dr. Palmer's sermon was on "Christ and Courageous Living."

He said:

"I am speaking tonight on the Upper Room and Gethsemane, both of which places I have visited. Jerusalem is a remarkably tumultuous city, with its narrow streets about twelve feet wide. It is continually filled with a gesticulating, yelling, vituperative, scolding crowd. It was a great pleasure then to cross the city and enter in by a courtyard to an outside stairway and climb up on to a platform from which you reach the Upper Room. It may not be the actual room but it is situated in or about the same place. When you look out upon the mountains encircling Jerusalem, and above the low roofs of the city you feel that you have found a sanctuary afar from the maddening crowd—a place full of peace and quietness—a place to look out and look up. The men who came to that Upper Room were no mere idle theorists. They were troubled men. Peter had already the shadow of denial upon him. Already Judas was planning his betrayal. Thomas was beginning to doubt and others were bothered about many things. As they brought their sorrows, troubles, problems and disturbed minds to that Upper Room so ought we to bring them to the church. That is the place of solution where the real issues ought to be faced. The anxieties of the present ought to be cared for there. Jesus was there to resolve their doubts, to strengthen their faith, to enlarge their vision and He started that work with an active parable. He washed their feet to show them that humility was more courageous than pride. In the church we meet on the same plane of a spiritual democracy. In the little Baptist church in Kentucky attended by Lincoln in his boyhood, the slaves had equal rights in voting inside the church. He brought to them spiritual comfort for the hour of trial and danger. He did not tell them that these things would not come but He strengthened them for it. In the hours of darkness these great spiritual truths remained with them in spiritual splendor and light. He established a feast of remembrance that it is our privilege to enjoy today. That feast shows his great courage in the face of death. It was heroism in the hour of depression. It should not be a funeral thing but should be a feast of joy. The light of resurrection shines upon it now. It should be a feast of fellowship for Jesus was there. He could not be holding on to death. W. T. Stead wrote a book "If Christ Should Come to Chicago?" When the Eucharistic Congress met in Chicago, they proclaimed that "Christ Had Come to Chicago." But Christ does not come to stay upon the altar. He is needed in the busy streets and we must take Him there with us from the Upper Room.

I had the great privilege of being in Gethsemane at sunset, and I noticed that we were under the shadow of the mighty city walls that encircled the mosque of Omar. In My Lord's day, it was Herod's temple. These walls represented the might and power of the great Roman Empire but the little group of men in Gethsemane have done more to revolutionize the world than all the pomp of militarism. Entrenched militarism and established social order are the great challenges of the present day and age but I tell you that humans and power of our country be trained or focussed upon our human problems under the direction of Jesus and His church and we will find security and solidarity and storage sufficient to bring us out victors over the battlemented walls of custom and tradition. Truth, Justice, and Righteousness and love must pre-empt the Kingdom of God shall come!"

Dr. Palmer spoke to the high school at 8:45 A. M., the ministers of Lee, Whiteside and Ogle counties at the noonday luncheon on "The Ideals for a Church." The closing meeting will take place tonight at the Methodist church at 7:45 P. M., when Dr. Palmer will have for his subject: "Prayer As A Help in Life Adjustment." All people welcome. Dr. J. Franklin Young, will preside.

Rosendahl's Friends Lost Fight For Him

Washington, Feb. 11 —(AP)—Five members of the House Naval Affairs committee today made an unsuccessful effort to keep at his post the first Commander of the world's largest air ship.

By a ten to five vote they lost a resolution which would have requested the Navy Department to let Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl retain command of the Akron.

Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, Chief of the Navy's Aeronautic Bureau, explained it was necessary to transfer Rosendahl to sea duty so he could qualify for promotion.

Rosendahl will be succeeded by Commander Alger H. Dressel, now Commander of the Los Angeles.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By THE UNITED PRESS

Washington, Feb. 12 — When you open your newspaper and read that America is evacuating its citizens from China or proposing a disarmament plan, the chances are this information comes from a gray-haired but youthful State Department officer named Michael James McDermott.

That dignified name, however, is seldom heard in the State Department. To officials and newspapermen the chief of the current information division is known affectionately as "Mac." And in the minds of newspapermen the world over he has come to be almost an institution.

Although most of his time is spent in Washington, you may find "Mac" occasionally in London, Paris, The Hague, Havana—wherever a big international conference is in session. His constant job is to provide a link between American diplomacy and American journalism. He has done this for eight years now—apparently to the satisfaction of both groups.

Enter McDermott's office on any day when momentous news is "breaking" and you will find a scene somewhat like this:

A thick-set man with gray hair (though he is only 37) is seated at an enormous desk. Before him is a battery of telephones, including a private connection with Secretary Stimson. The phone jangles constantly. A half-dozen newspapermen ask questions at once.

"Is the United States sending more troops to Shanghai?" a newspaper office inquires by telephone. "Do you have any report of a revolution in Honduras?" a visitor asks.

Another telephone rings. "What does the State Department think of the French disarmament proposal?"

Amid this medley of noise, "Mac" gives out information with a constant eye, on one hand, to legitimate demands of the public for knowledge and on the other, to the exigencies of diplomacy.

Thus is the American citizen kept informed of his country's movements in the field of foreign affairs.

If someone wanted a book giving the real "inside stuff" about America's part in the World War and its diplomatic maneuverings since, few persons would be better fitted to write it than McDermott. For 15 years he has watched the inner workings of the governmental machine.

However, it is extremely doubtful that he will ever write the book. To "Mac" a confidence is a sacred trust, whether it comes from an official or a newspaperman. Perhaps that is the secret of his helpfulness to both.

20 YEARS OF ILL HEALTH

Then Mrs. Duke Discovered Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Of her own accord, Mrs. Duke sat down and wrote us a glowing tribute to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN:

"I have been constipated all my life, which has been about 20 years, up until last year when I started eating your ALL-BRAN. Since I have been eating it, people tell me I am looking better, and I am sure that I feel a great deal better."—Mrs. L. W. Duke, 210 Hardin Ave., College Park, Ga.

Constipation is usually caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help give them tone. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides both of these dietary necessities, as well as iron for the blood.

Within the body, the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

How much more natural it is to enjoy this delicious cereal than to risk taking pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—serious cases with every meal—for most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Garner Movement Gaining Strength

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The "Garner-for-President" movement still lacks any expression from the Speaker of the House, but his close friends among the Representatives are getting together now and again on ways of speeding it along.

Before the month is out, it may take even more formidable form. The call of a rally at San Antonio for February 22 to begin a campaign for Garner is seen here as offering possibilities for broader activity.

The San Antonio meetings were called by Mayor C. M. Chambers, and Harry P. Hornsby, editor of a paper in Garner's home town of Uvalde. Later another rally will be held in Dallas to round up north Texas support.

House members from southern states, including Alabama and North Carolina, and from the north including Indiana, New York, Missouri, New Jersey and from New England have manifested substantial interest in their Speaker's possibilities.

HILLS BROS' PATENTED PROCESS PUTS THE FINISHING TOUCHES ON THE JOB THAT NATURE BEGINS

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow . . . so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously . . . "a little at a time."

No can of Hills Bros. Coffee will ever "go stale." The vacuum can keeps it FRESH ALWAYS!

Controlled Roasting brings out the perfect flavor of Hills Bros' famous blend . . .

Small quantities of coffee, automatically controlled, assure an ideal roast for each berry real flavor of coffee—its true, refreshing smoothness—is in every pound of Hills Bros. Coffee. No variation!

Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum cans, and can't go stale. The vacuum process of packing coffee is the only method that fully preserves coffee freshness—the air is removed from the can and kept out. It was originated by Hills Bros. over thirty years ago. There is no magic about a vacuum can—it will not make poor coffee good, but it will keep good coffee fresh.

Order Hills Bros. Coffee today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

When ripe coffee is picked, Nature's work is done. Man must finish the job, and develop the flavor by roasting. But if he roasts the coffee too long, or not enough, its true goodness is lost. And it is easy to lose the flavor by ordinary, bulk-roasting methods.

Under-roasting and over-roasting can't happen with Hills Bros.' patented process! Hills Bros. roast a little at a time . . . evenly, continuously, by Controlled Roasting.

Small quantities, automatically controlled, assure an ideal roast for each berry! The

Lincoln's Visit To His Father's Grave Recalled

Mattoon, Ill., Feb. 12.—(AP)—In Shiloh cemetery near Janesville, about eleven miles southeast of Mattoon, in the shadow of a little country church, are the graves of Thomas and Sarah Bush Lincoln, father and stepmother of Abraham Lincoln.

Older residents recall "Abe's" last visit to his father's grave. He was accompanied to the cemetery by Isaac W. Rogers of Janesville, father of the late Mrs. Sarah D. Baker, then a child of ten years. It was on that occasion that Lincoln placed Sarah Rodgers in charge of the upkeep of his father's grave.

It was before his inauguration and Lincoln stood by the grave and wept, saying that the county was approaching a critical time and that he never expected to get back again and he never did. It was during this visit to Janesville and Farmington, nearby, that Lincoln had his last visit with his stepmother. The old house is still standing in Coles county where he ate his last meal with Sarah Bush Lincoln.

Sarah Rodgers—later Mrs. Baker—spent her entire lifetime in the vicinity of Janesville and for many years, cared for the graves of Thomas and Sarah Bush Lincoln herself. For many years, they were practically forgotten except by a few old neighbors. The road leading to the graves became rough and almost impassable.

In November, 1922, the people of that vicinity formed the Shiloh Lincoln Memorial club to care for the graves. Mrs. Baker, then 71 years of age, was the sponsor and first president.

The Lions Club of Illinois erected a monument in the cemetery in May 1923, in memory of Thomas and Sarah Bush Lincoln. It has been viewed by thousands of visitors.

Was Father's Lawyer
Dr. J. G. Baker of Mattoon, a son of Mrs. Baker, recalls hearing his mother tell of the time that Abe Lincoln acted as her father's lawyer in the "late fifties."

Her father, Mr. Rodgers owned a herd of horses, which strayed a considerable distance from home and met another herd owned by a man named Steward. When the two herds paraded, a fine colt belonging to Mr. Rodgers remained and Steward claimed it as his own and refused to give it up.

They decided to resort to a lawsuit and Mr. Rodgers went to Charleston and hired Lincoln, who was then riding the circuit, as his lawyer. Lincoln told him to tie the colt and then to tie its mother a certain distance on one side of the colt and the mare from the other herd an equal distance on the other side of the colt. When untied, Lincoln said, the colt would go to its mother. This was done. When untied, the colt played around a bit and made straight for its rightful mother. The evidence was used in court and the colt was awarded to Mrs. Baker's father.

Mrs. Baker, many times during her lifetime, recalled the first time she saw Abraham Lincoln. It was on Sept. 18, 1855, she said, on the day of the Lincoln-Douglas debate at Charleston. She, with a number of other girls, rode to Charleston in a spring wagon and as the wagon was being driven across a bridge, Lincoln's covered buggy drew up beside it. They all stopped and Abraham Lincoln stepped out on the step of the buggy, and putting one hand on the wagon, remarked, referring to the wagon load of girls, "Gentlemen, I thank you for this basket of beautiful flowers."

TRAINING THE CHILD

If one should for any length of time fix the arms or legs of an infant and seek to restrain them from moving a violent protest would be sure to follow.

There would be loud and violent crying, and spasms of struggling to get free.

One can, however, as the child grows older, train it to stay quiet for a while without any emotional or physical spasms. Essentially such training involves a compli-ated coordination of the nervous system.

It is native to the animal and the human body to resist restraint. The colt must be "broken in" before it will wear harness, or carry a rider, and the child must be taught before it will subordinate its primitive wish to that of the family or conform its pattern of behavior to that common in the group.

The child is not born with a desire to behave, or with a knowledge of good behavior. It is, however, full of primitive reactions to a multitude of stimuli.

Training a child implies the subordination of its primitive reactions to others of a more desirable kind.

How is this to be achieved? In substance, by making the desired pattern of behavior more desirable to the child than the one with which it starts out.

The child is a dependent creature. Its food, shelter, clothing and

WASHINGTON

HIS LIFE STORY IN PICTURES, COMMEMORATING THE 200TH ANNIVERSARY OF HIS BIRTH.

The French defeated Washington's troops at Great Meadows Fort, but permitted them to return to Virginia.

Two horses were shot from under him and his clothing was ripped by bullets while fighting for Braddock.

At 23, he was named commander of all Virginia troops.

In 1757, his health failed and he was ordered home, but recovered in a year.

By NEA Service

Washington played a brave, but certainly not a brilliant part in his first real war experience.

Sent with 350 men to attack the French on the Ohio, Washington pushed on to within 40 miles of the enemy position and erected a weak fort near what is now Pittsburgh, Pa.

Using this fort, as a base he made attack, May 28, 1754, on an advance detachment of 30 French, killing the commander and nine others and taking the remaining soldiers prisoners.

Then the entire French force of 700 besieged Washington's fort, compelled him to surrender, disarmed his men and sent them back to Virginia.

Washington ardently desired to play a real part in the French and Indian war, so when General Edward Braddock and his army arrived in Virginia, in February, 1775, Washington accepted Braddock's offer to become his aide-de-camp with the courtesy title of colonel.

As a soldier, Washington showed coolness, poise, determination and energy. He had two horses shot from under him and his clothing was torn by four bullets when Braddock's army was ambushed and bloodily defeated while marching on Fort Duquesne. He was at Braddock's death-bed, helped bring back the men and was repaid by being appointed commander-in-chief of all Virginia troops at the age of 23. Washington's health failed him in 1757, but he recovered in time to lead a successful attack on Fort Duquesne a year later.

Tomorrow: Elected Commander-in-chief of the Revolutionary Army.

Little-Known Tale Of Lincoln Told By Author

Chicago, Feb. 12.—(UP)—Lincoln's sagacity and loyalty to his friends are proverbial but Lloyd Lewis, Chicago author and Lincoln authority, told a little-known story today in which the two traits are strangely intermingled.

As Lewis tells it: "September, 1862, found the Civil War in the doldrums. Battles in the east left both sides decimated.

Northwestern states were on the point of seceding. Failure of Union armies to clear the Mississippi left farmers no market for their corn, wheat and hogs.

"A nervous, black-haired Union General went to Washington, told

SNOW DRIVES DEER TO FOOTHILLS

Union, Ore.—(UP)—Deep snow in the mountains east of here has driven hundreds of deer into the foothills for food. Motorists stop to watch the now tame deer browsing in the fields like so many cattle.

Just a Common Old Barn—Yesterday

Remodeled
Jamesway
Today It's

Modern — Convenient — Comfortable —

"Our old barn wasn't comfortable or convenient—we lacked storage room, our cows were crowded, didn't get enough fresh air or sunlight. Chores took too long. Then one day our Jamesway dealer dropped around. He showed us how easy it really was to make our old barn modern, how little it would cost, so we got busy.

We Said Good-bye to Drudgery

"You'd never know the old place now! We have Jamesway drinking cups, steel stalls and stanchions, a smooth running litter carrier, perfect ventilation—everything at low cost simply by improving the old barn. Our cows give more milk and it's a pleasure to work around them. We have as fine a barn as there is in the county, but it didn't cost near as much as a new one."

That's how one farmer solved his barn remodeling problem. Hundreds of others have done the same, by using Jamesway's barn planning and remodeling service. We are your Jamesway dealers. Come in and see us, find out how inexpensive it is to fix up your barn; to have it warmer in winter, cooler in summer, drier the year 'round. Find out how you can make a little more money with Jamesway Equipment. Do it now! Asking us about Jamesway has never cost anyone a penny.

5. The Soldier

ordered Sherman to make a surprise attack on Vicksburg.

"Sherman finally headed 40,000 men. Vicksburg was garrisoned by 6,000 Confederates. Grant promised to keep 25,000 Confederates under Pemberton busy.

Found Troops Gone
"McClelland, unaware to what use his troops had been put, arrived in Memphis with a bride on his arm. His troops were gone. McClelland steamed downstream after them.

"He arrived before Vicksburg to learn that Grant's stratagem had failed. Pemberton's cavalry had destroyed Grant's supply depot and the Confederate Commander had sent reinforcements to Vicksburg to repel Sherman. But then, McClelland was only a cog in Grant's wheel.

"McClelland wondered who had abetted Grant in this maneuver. Many said that Lincoln, convinced Grant was the better commander, was behind it.

"Grant later relieved McClelland of his command. The latter complained to Lincoln. He received this reply:

"I doubt whether your present position is more painful to you than to myself.

"General Grant and yourself have been conspicuous in our most important successes, and for me to interfere and thus magnify a breach between you could not but be of evil effect for me to force you back upon General Grant would be forcing him to resign. I cannot give you a new command because we have no forces except such as already have commanders... he who has the right needs not to fear. Your friend as ever.

"A. Lincoln."

"In his day, Lincoln's enemies quoted the incident as proving how 'slippery' he was. H is friends mentioned it as an example of his sagacity."
